Service

Install a fluid drain valve in the bottom of the filter bowl (5) to relieve fluid pressure and drain the filter.

Establish a preventive maintenance schedule and clean the filter on a regular schedule to maximize filtering efficiency and to avoid pressure drop.

⚠ WARNING

PRESSURIZED EQUIPMENT HAZARD

Before removing, cleaning, or servicing the filter, close the inlet and outlet ball valves and open the fluid drain valve to relieve pressure.

Unscrew the cap nut (1). Lower the bowl (5) away from the filter housing (3). Remove the cap nut gasket (2a), housing gasket (2b), and filter element (4).

If fluid leaks around the bowl (5) or the cap nut (1), replace the gaskets (2a and 2b). See the Parts list for gasket replacement kits 240–194 and 240–195.

Clean the bowl and element with a compatible solvent before the fluid dries. Do not use a wire brush or sharp object to clean. See the Parts list for filter element replacement kits.

NOTE: Clean the filter element (4) with a small paint brush. Blow out lodged particles with air, and inspect for damage.

Reassemble the filter in the reverse order.
